HAYES ENTRY MAY WIN LIMP STAKE

Braden and Violin Appear to Have Good Chance Between Them at Fair Grounds.

LUCKY CHARM FOR SECOND.

Wannett Clock Seems Able to Get the Place—Otto Stifel and Jerry Hunt Look Like Victors.

Thoroughbreds with a fondness for muddy and heavy going are strongly apparent on the Fair Grounds today. Yesterday's downpour bringing out a lot of entries on whom the going should have good effect.

Even in the stake event, the youngsters carded to compete have shown ability to traverse sticky going, so far as the most likely contenders are concerned. Both the Hayes and Bennett entries can plow through mud with fair success. Both Tom Shelby, who has a Chicago race or two to his credit in this sort of footing, and Stifel, who has a Chicago race or two to his credit in this sort of footing, and fully considering Shelby's stake victory of a couple of days ago at Chicago, it appears as if he should be accorded to the Hayes entry. Violin is said to have a fondness for such going, and Braden has already won a stake on a slushy track.

With light weight on Violin and Braden's ability to win as he has in heavy going, it surely seems as if the Hayes entry had a first-class chance today. Lucky Charm may have the best show for second money, while Tom Shelby, on his Chicago record, should be third, at least. If the going is not too heavy, the light footed, before me was sold by Mackey Shannon she had the habit of over-reaching herself, and the result that her forelegs were generally cut badly after races on a hard track. She is said to have shown better form after a change in her shoes and to have some ability in the mud. It is to her extremely light weight, however, that her best chance lies. Her extreme speed should help her to be a disturbing factor, if nothing else. It does not seem as if she will be a place winner, but she will be a factor in the race. She will go to one of the Hayes youngsters, with Lucky Charm second. Regarding the track conditions, the race should afford a first-class contest over the three-quarters route.

The fifth race is at least equal in promise to the stake. Here Otto Stifel comes to have the best chance to come home first. The colt ran kindly on the first race and is at home in the track which should be presented to-day.

He can handle the weight and should be able to dispose of Harkniss without much trouble. Laura Hunter, on the strength of one or two performances shown in the mud, should be third. Harkniss looks well on any kind of soft footing. Lately he has run some fairly creditable races. Hunter, after his light weight, may be able to dispose of J. W. O'Neill, who has not shown any great enthusiasm over muddy footing.

TRANSFER TO WIN. Trappetter has won a race or two in similar going to that which should prevail today. His performances have been good enough to make it appear that he can best his field in the sixth race. Sister Lilian, who has been in the lead after her last race, although she closed in third position. It seems as if Atholhouse had the better chance to get the place today.

Neverach looks well in the seventh event, considering the track and distance. Braden's pace-making in the last of the first race he can hardly receive preference over other members of the field. Atholhouse runs nicely in tracks like that which should be offered to-day, and she may be second, while Harkniss, who has been in the lead in the very first race, will probably be backed by a large contingent to win this race instead of to run third.

This event, by the large fields and which offer open betting propositions, mark the first half of the card. In the opening race, the track looks to have an excellent chance with his trifling improvement of eight-to-five odds. He should beat his own record in this race. The colt and Atholhouse may be contenders.

Jerry Hunt shows his old time speed yesterday, and should win the shorter distance to-day. Chorus Boy seems to be running back to form and may be second, while Lucky Fox should be third.

Stand Pat is the class of the third event and should beat Atholhouse and Braden.

PORT HUNTER RUNS TO TRUE FORM. Good Three-Year-Old Captures Handicap at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Port Hunter again ran to his true form to-day when he won the Handicap, the stake feature of the card, by a length and a half from St. Valentine, who beat Spring by a length and a half.

Memories and Gold Money, outsiders, beat the favorite, Minnie. In the first, Minnie led to the stretch, but did not hold her own. Memories and Gold Money, a half from St. Valentine, who beat Spring by a length and a half.

Lady Potentate, favorite in the second, won handsily by two lengths. Brookynite, who was the favorite in the first, was beaten by a length and a half.

Another favorite, Drammer, won the fifth without effort. He was beaten by a length and a half from St. Valentine, who beat Spring by a length and a half.

St. Valentine, favorite in the sixth, was much better than her field, winning by five lengths under wraps. Summary:
